

Daily basis patients book to see the doctor the doctor opens her laptop to see the schedule

Greet the patients

Asking what the patients are looking for

Then come up with the diagnosis and how she can help

Then write visitor notes

So she types what they are there for some time uses bullet points

Difficult to engage and type when interacting with mental health patients

Sometime talks to home care nurse

Sometime communicate to fax to pharmacist (to clarify perscription)

Somethings she looks at her tasks

All doctors have a tasks page

All results are in this task page

Open up consult pages

Is any abnormal results she has to communicate to front desk

Referral letters

Most time spent doing patient work

The 10-20% is more consult letters etc.

And if she doesn't have time to finish at work she brings it home

Everything is on her laptop

She has gone paperless

Uses emr electronic medical records

Does not have it for imaging yet

It has to be done manually

Not 100% paperless cause they still use fax and writing consult letters have to be printed

So when you are only using to view make sure you have lab results, onsultations letters, lab results, lawyer third party,
